Dear [REDACTED]

A few days before our pell-Well departure last February, I mentioned to you an impending visit to Copenhagen by the Department's Coordinator for Maps. It seemed to me at the time that two such powerhouses as you and [REDACTED] should meet each other. [REDACTED] visit never came off, but I can now report that another one is likely. [REDACTED]

As you may know, [REDACTED] is due in Copenhagen on September 28th for a day's review of various matters with [REDACTED] departing the 30th for other parts. [REDACTED]

I should like to recommend again that you spend some time with him, if it is possible. [REDACTED] not cultivated in the sense that you and the [REDACTED] are, but he is a remarkably bright, witty, energetic, and effective person. I have, naturally, spoken of you to him.

We are in excellent order here, have vast amounts of things to write about, and will do so when a group of pictures come back from the photo finisher's this weekend. The fact that little correspondence has been accomplished thus far is a source of real chagrin. More shortly; let me get this in the mails.

Our best to [REDACTED] and the brood.

Sincerely,
